you, sir, are of a different america than i.

Denny's is God. sorry you didn't know that. not your fault, probably brought up wrong. could happen to anybody.

too many ties to the D. drive by one, you've little choice but to pull in and order. so sad you've missed out on this. maybe you're a sambo's kid. understandable. sad, but understandable.

or maybe you're an applebees guy. i can see that.

s'all cool, cousin. you suck at the teat of what you glean bestest, but at some point somebody must let you know that you are fucking totally wrong.

you always pull into a Denny's, rock. you order a coffee, and you look at the picture menu. and then you order some food, savvy?

Ow.

Applebees! No no no no... unless maybe there's a coupon involved. Keg, yes though.

Please allow Rox to correct your faulty thinking via a little Socratic questioning.

Q. When you walk into a Denny's, does someone say to you in a spirited and joyous tone, as if having long awaited and now delighted at your presence, "WELCOME TO DENNY'S!"?

Q. Do Denny's line cooks work in plain view, and without the benefit of chits, as in from only verbal commands relayed to them from you by your attentive server?

Q. Has Denny's evolved its own language in which words like "smothered" and "capped" have special meaning?

Q. Can you eat at Denny's for under $5?

Okay, sure, the waffles suck. But do not dis the WH.

the answers to your questions are as follows. first question, thank jesus and mary no. second question, not sure because you make no sense and i have no idea what you're asking. third question, it's not their language. it's called english. forth question, yes.

question for you, camper.

do you know the Hollywood Vampires, and can you you get me tickets to their next tour?

Okay. This is all fun.

We've work to do, folks. This capital I have in my hands is from Evelyn Horan. She's an ex-teacher, dudes. She crafts capital for kids.

I don't think she knows our vibe.

We'll examine it, but wow, I do feel this has been placed on the wrong roundtable. Okay, let's see.

"Doli ( bluebird) finished filling her basket with delicate-flavored pine nuts when the songs of birds suddenly stopped. Fuzzy-tailed squirrels scurried away disappearing among the boughs of the tall pines on Lost Deer Mountain. Her sister Otekah (oh-tee-kuh- sun maiden) pointed to the village below."

Wow.

Wow.

This ain't your fight Billy! I don't care if'n you take that foot and put it in my ear and their ain'ta dang thing I kin do about it neither!

I can't help it! Damn them. All the icons of my youth are going to the way of la Dodo. All is heve!! A brief dance in the sun ... and then ... long speaks the grave!

Come back to the Rez, Billy! Ah ghost, come back again, and by the wind grieved!

Yes, Rockefeller. You are a major number one douche. If you don't know that by now in your grown up life, then it's about time someone let you know. Ta-fucking-da.

Dude, what is your problem? Someone died?
