
AHOY! Boligard

Posted by bulldust - 2018/02/09 12:20

"Plenty of zines out there, and believe me, I've witnessed it, they will publish practically anything, so you've a good chance to publish, sirah. Once again, thanks for noticing us and giving us a chance to publish your work and give you lots of money."

Where would these zines be found? I'm asking for a friend.

=====

Re:AHOY! Boligard

Posted by rockefeller - 2018/02/12 11:05

Maybe he means little non-paying blogs-zines. Like you can "publish" your shit on any number of public writing forums. But if you want a little $ remuneration and some modicum of editorial/presentation/promotional assistance, writing is a very tough sell. So much chaff, so little wheat, whole industry riddled with numbskulls (like yours truly) for gatekeepers. True a lot of dreck finds surprisingly nice home homes, but that don't mean it's easy for the goodstuff to. All seems to be one big scam. So yeah, help us out here Boli. Where are these venues of which you speak?

=====

Re:AHOY! Boligard

Posted by bulldust - 2018/02/13 15:44

I did find this, but they seem to have disappeared after 2012:

<https://thejournalofexuberantlybadfiction.wordpress.com/about/>

Could this be what he speaks of?

=====

Re:AHOY! Boligard

Posted by tqr - 2018/02/13 18:13

Excellent! This publication is the monkey's stereoisomer, if I may be so bold. ... Balls!

=====